

Afterschool Progress Report and Consumer Guide: Kentucky

How Kentucky is Helping to Keep the Lights on After School

Afterschool in Kentucky

While Kentucky has made progress in getting more kids into afterschool, it still falls short of the national average and a higher percentage of Kentucky youth (28 percent) are responsible for taking care of themselves after school, compared to 26 percent nationally. Fortunately, 9 in 10 parents in Kentucky are satisfied with their child's afterschool program, leaving hope that with increased interest in programs and more devotion to program quality and availability, Kentucky can take strides toward greater access to afterschool.

Growth in Afterschool Participation

Kentucky	2004	2009
Percentage of Kids in Afterschool Programs	7%	12%
Percentage of Kids in Self Care	19%	28%
Percentage of Parents Extremely/Somewhat Satisfied with Afterschool Program	98%	90%
Percentage of Kids Who Would Participate if an Afterschool Program were Available	30%	29%
Percentage of Kids in Summer Learning Programs	--	15%

Based on the FY2011 funding level and an average per student cost of $1000, 21st Century Community Learning Centers (21st CCLC) can serve 17,460 students in Kentucky. However, that is only a small fraction of the 278,639 kids in Kentucky who are eligible to participate in a 21st CCLC program, if more funding were available.

Consumer Guide: Kentucky

For many adults in America, thinking about the hours after the school day ends conjures up memories of doing homework, playing pick-up basketball, taking guitar or dance lessons or going home to Mom and a snack. But for millions of children today, those images are nothing like their reality. In fact, each day in America, more than 15 million children—some as young as 5 years old—are without supervision at home or on the streets.

The Afterschool Alliance has a host of resources that can help ensure that your child can enjoy the safe environment and proven academic and social gains that afterschool programs can afford.

- The How to Find an Afterschool Program Guide offers tips to find the best afterschool options for your child.
- The Afterschool Alliance has resources that describe what to look for in a quality afterschool program with a list of quality characteristics for programs serving each age group.

Methodology:

The 2011 State-by-State Progress Reports and Consumer Guides are sponsored by jcpenny. Scores for the Progress Reports were devised using a range of factors falling under three major categories: Growth in Afterschool Participation, Developments in State Afterschool Policy and Funding and Advancements in State Afterschool Leadership. Data from the America After 3PM survey, also sponsored by jcpenny, was used in assessing the afterschool participation portion of the Progress Reports. Between March and May 2009, 29,754 parents/guardians were surveyed for America After 3PM. The remainder of the Progress Reports and Consumer Guides were created utilizing up to date policy and leadership developments obtained from afterschool leaders in the states, most notably the forty statewide afterschool networks. The 2011 State-by-State Progress Reports and Consumer Guides reflect the data and resources available at the time of their release in October 2011.
