

Afterschool Progress Report and Consumer Guide: Massachusetts

How Massachusetts is Helping to Keep the Lights on After School

Afterschool in Massachusetts

Massachusetts is one of only a handful of states to see afterschool participation increase by 7 percent between 2004 and 2009; no state had a larger increase. Though tempered by an alarming 5 percent increase in self-care, Massachusetts is nonetheless making progress. In addition to its 18 percent afterschool participation rate, the state also boasts high overall program satisfaction and is leading the nation in terms of program availability. With several policy initiatives currently in motion, hopefully state leaders will continue to propel Massachusetts forward and ensure that all children have access to quality afterschool opportunities.

Growth in Afterschool Participation

Massachusetts	2004	2009
Percentage of Kids in Afterschool Programs	11%	18%
Percentage of Kids in Self Care	21%	26%
Percentage of Parents Extremely/Somewhat Satisfied with Afterschool Program	88%	93%
Percentage of Kids Who Would Participate if an Afterschool Program were Available	30%	36%
Percentage of Kids in Summer Learning Programs	--	30%

Based on the FY2011 funding level and an average per student cost of $1000, 21st Century Community Learning Centers (21st CCLC) can serve 16,514 students in Massachusetts. However, that is only a small fraction of the 308,315 kids in Massachusetts who are eligible to participate in a 21st CCLC program, if more funding were available.

Consumer Guide: Massachusetts

For many adults in America, thinking about the hours after the school day ends conjures up memories of doing homework, playing pick-up basketball, taking guitar or dance lessons or going home to Mom and a snack. But for millions of children today, those images are nothing like their reality. In fact, each day in America, more than 15 million children—some as young as 5 years old—are without supervision at home or on the streets.

The Afterschool Alliance has a host of resources that can help ensure that your child can enjoy the safe environment and proven academic and social gains that afterschool programs can afford.

Methodology:

The 2011 State-by-State Progress Reports and Consumer Guides are sponsored by jcpenny. Scores for the Progress Reports were devised using a range of factors falling under three major categories: Growth in Afterschool Participation, Developments in State Afterschool Policy and Funding and Advancements in State Afterschool Leadership. Data from the America After 3PM survey, also sponsored by jcpenny, was used in assessing the afterschool participation portion of the Progress Reports. Between March and May 2009, 29,754 parents/guardians were surveyed for America After 3PM. The remainder of the Progress Reports and Consumer Guides were created utilizing up to date policy and leadership developments obtained from afterschool leaders in the states, most notably the forty statewide afterschool networks. The 2011 State-by-State Progress Reports and Consumer Guides reflect the data and resources available at the time of their release in October 2011.
