WASHINGTON, DC – The Afterschool Alliance today announced the appointment of Tallahassee, Florida's Larry Pintacuda to its board of directors. In December, Pintacuda retired from his position as CEO of the Florida Afterschool Network. He is one of two new board members, both of whom have been longtime leaders in the afterschool movement and education leaders at the state level; the other is Bonnie Reiss, former Secretary of Education of California.

Pintacuda had a nearly 45-year career devoted to children's services programming. Before taking the reins of the Florida Afterschool Network, he spent 33 years at the Florida Department of Children & Families (DCF), most recently serving as Assistant Secretary of Operations and State Child Care Coordinator.

"We're excited to add Larry's vast experience to our board of directors," said Afterschool Alliance Executive Director Jodi Grant. "His entire career has been about kids — keeping them safe and healthy, and inspiring them to learn. Those are core missions for afterschool programs, and he knows afterschool inside and out. We look forward to benefiting from his hard-earned wisdom and his abiding commitment to children, families and communities."

"It's an honor to join the board of the Afterschool Alliance, an organization that has done so much to keep our children safe and constructively engaged after school," Pintacuda said. "There's so much work to be done making sure children in Florida and throughout the nation have access to quality afterschool programs. It's work I've been doing for some time in Florida, and I'm looking forward to doing it at the national level, together with my new colleagues on the board."
